A Washington special of the 22d inst. dispatches to Radicals indicate that the Constitution is voted down in Georgia, but whether they are adopted or not. Alabama will be the first let in, and that immediately on the assumption of regular business by Congress. The conspirators are satisfied they cannot elect Grant without the vote of every Southern State, and they propose controlling the elections there with the strong arm of the military. Without the removal of Johnson they cannot consummate their designs, and hence the necessity of his removal. EXPEDIENCY

The New York Tribune, which opposed npeachment until it became satisfied that that alone could save the Radical arty, if any thing could, now insists that the Senate shall turn President $10.00 Johnson out of office, not because he is guilty as charged in the articles of impeachment, but because he is a dangerous nan. Here is what the Tribune says in its issue of April 20:

"A zealous foe to impeachment, just from Washington, being inquired of as to the Name letters from the various counties of the prospect, replied: 'The Senate would ac juit Johnson, if they did not fear what he may do bereafter.' We non-concur; yet the observation has much force. The Sen te cannot vote to let loose this mad bull a the national china shop, with full knowledge of his incurably victors propensities nd his furiously savage temper. His ac mittal would be a virtual character of icense to heap outrage on outrage, evading and defying the laws, and doing his wicked worst to re establish a vindictive Rebel domination throughout the South. He i an aching tooth in the national jaw, a creeching infant in a crowded lecture room; and there can be no peace nor comapplications from young men from the

Who would have thought that the New York Tribune, with the character it has made in former years, would have stooped to the ignoble appeal it has thus addressed to the Senate. Its position now is, virtually, to kick right and justice aside, and depose the President, simply be cause he is in the way of the Radical party. A more leveling, agrarian posis tion never was assumed by a journal claiming respectability.

JAMES MADISON, AND BOUTWELL, THE MANAGER. Mr. Boutwell lays one of the premise of his argument against the President

An examination of the Constitution shows that the Executive and judicial departments have no inherent vigor by which hey are enabled to perform their funcions, while the legislative department is lothed with authority to make all laws ecessary to carry into execution all powers vested by the Constitution in the govrnment of any department or officers thereof. The legislative department has the original power from the Constitution, while the xeccutive and judicial departments are constantly dependent upon the egislative department. This is a broad assertion of the docrine which claims for Congress superiority over the Executive and the Supreme Court, and condemns them to a condition of dependency; and under which the recent usurpations of that body are sought to be justified.

Now, if there is one distinguishing feature of the Constitution, it is that making each department co-equal in authority with the others, each to act in its assigned sphere, and it is the chief object of that instrument to preserve a balance of power between them, and to prevent tually was regarded as the cardinal defect in all other forms of government previous to 1787. In some, the executive wielded nearly all power; in others, the law-making body was supreme, and in both of these classes the judiciary was inefficient. But Mr. Boutwell has blazed out a new The impeachment managers are alarmed view, and holds that the fathers intended at the suggestion made to take the final vote and actually framed a government of the second class. Not so did James Madison, "the Father of the Constitution," think. In the 48th number of the Federalist, he said : "It is equally evident that neither of the departments ought to possess, directly or in ectly, an overruling influence over the other in the administration of their respective powers. But experience assures us that the efficacy of provisions to this end, in most of the American (State) Constitutions, has been greatly overrated; and that some more adequate defense is indispensa the more powerful members of the governnent. The legislative department is every there extending the sphere of its activity, and owing all powers into its impetuous vortex."

The argument of that paper is to show that the Constitution of the United States had placed all possible restraints spon the legislative to prohibit it from subjecting the other departments to its its control; and to commend it to the American people because it contained that salutary provision.

The argument of the impeachment nanapers is to prove that it did no such thing, and should not have done so; and t is necessary to establish this proposi tion in order to defend the monstrons usurpations of Congress, which the President was endeavoring in a constitutional manner to correct, when, in addition to the guilt of those outrages, he was arraigned for trial The criminal violators of the Constitution are seeking to conceal their crime by condemning the officer who sought to arrest them in the act.

THE IMPEACHERS SCARED.

Rumors come from Washington that t is now argued that the removal of the President is not the inevitable penalty to e imposed upon conviction, and there were rumors abroad in that city on the to the Louisville Courier says: Private Plat inst., that the Senate would not remove him, even it it should find him they declare that all these States shall be guilty. These rumors greatly excited the admitted with their constitutions, and fears of the impeachers. The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, (Radical.) writes on the 21st inst, as follows

> The Senators, after the close of the arguments, will go into secret session for con sultation. A proposition will be offered by Judge Edmunds to admit the official reporters so that the speeches of Senators may be taken down and printed with the report of the trial, and a half dozen members are already known to be in favor of such a procedure, while several will oppose it trongly. The vote on the separate articles impeachment will be taken in open Senate, on Wednesday or Thursday, probably, of next week. When the question arises of pronouncing judgment, in case one or more of the articles is sustained, the manvote on the judgement, and the question is agree as to the sentence. Some of the lawyers in the Senate are looking up authorities on this head. A majority are doubtless in favor of disqualifying Mr. Johnson from thirds would agree to this sentence.

It is said that Conness, and Thayer, two of the Judges (Heaven save the mark) of the President, and Bingham and Boutwell, two of the official accusers, are applicants for Cabinet positions and Supreme Judgeships under his expeeted successor. Can there be deeper political profligacy than this? An infuriate rabble, who executed the sentence of an unjust Judge in the most momentuous trial in human history, cast lots for the garments of the murdered Innocent after crucifizion. These infernal wretches coolly chaffer about their rewards, before the diabolical deed is done.

Some of the leading Radicals of the Rochester district, New York, are pro posing to send Fred. Douglass, the negro, to Congress. Of course it meets with opposition, first, because there are a good many white men in the district who want the place, and secondly, because, while Radicals are eager to thrust the negro forward in the Southern States, they regard his aspirations very differently in the North.

Fred, however, has been sounded on the subject, and says "Barkis is willin', and adds that "if he can stand Congress Congress ought to afford to stand him; and in this opinion, we concur. The negro, barring the principle involved in the matter, deserves the position. He is the superior in intellect and good-breeding of a large majority of the white Radis cals now in Congress.

THE Radicals of North Carolina claim that they will be able to poll ninety thousand votes, but of this number only twenty-five thousand will be east by white men. In South Carolina the matter is worse. These facts show that the Southern States are being reconstructed in the interest of the negroes and a very small minority of white men.

Oats also are growing off finely, and our sturdy and industrious farmers are preparing their corn ground with a view to a heavy crop.—Morristown Gazette, Apr. 22. THE FRUIT AND THE CROPS .- Our inormation is, from every section of East Pennessee, that the fruit is still abundant, and we have the promise of an abundant yield of peaches, apples, etc. The wheat never was more promising at this season of the year. It is far advanced, looks well, romises well, and looms up in every direction. The tillers of the soil are all at work, and are promising to raise large crops of corn, oats, potatoes, etc. - Knozvill Whig, April 22.

THE FRUIT.-Citizens of our vicinity who have taken pains to inform themselves, assure us that if no more frost interferes, we shall have an abundance of fruit in this county this year. The peaches were only thinned enough to make the remaining ones larger and better. "MACK" AFTER WADE.

Wade Denounces Foreigners and Enlogises Negroes-Denies His Speech. orrespondence of the Cincinnati Commen WASHINGTON, April 17, 1868.-Sturdy Ben is out in another contradiction This time it is in relation to a speech made by him in Marietta last fall, and reported by me. He made a very unprovoked and unjustifiable attack upon adopted citizens of all sorts, using the expression that some of them "knew less than the horses they drove." Lately a German fellow-citizen called upon sturdy old Ben for an explapation of this remarkable speech, and sturdy old Ben fell back upon the old tactics of saying it was all a d-d'lie. He never said any such thing, especially about the Germans. On the contrary, he had always had the most profound respect and esteem for the Germans, as an industrious, very fond of the Irish character, being in fact an Irishman himself; and this, I take it, would be about the worst slander ever man species, but never yet, thank a fortune, a sturdy old Ben. . idual deposits, nearly $523,000,000. Election Blot. AUGUSTA, April 23 .- The polls closed day with a vote of 817, and the total vote for the four days foots up 5257. Butock's majority for Governor is fully 1000. The election closed with a row between the whites and blacks, several being wounded, but not seriously. The excitement was intense, and subsequently a negro knocked a lady down in the street, injuring University of Nashville, knocked a lady down to the arcet, injuries, her severely, which added to the excitement, and fears are entertained of a general rist. Several shots were fired at the freedman, but he escaped with a slight flesh wound. Afterwards the military charged through the streets, dispersing the

ity to | crowd. After quiet was restored it was ascertained that the negro who assaulted the lady was seffering under a fit of temporary ineanity. When this became known quiet was restored, and at this hour, 10 P. M., the city snapped the cap, when, to his horror, the is perfectly quiet and order reigns.

Charges Preferred Against General Schoffeld.

RIGHMOND, April 23.-Ex-Gov.
